In celebrating the March for Women's Lives

Saturday, April 24, 2004 • 4:30 – 6:30pm
National Geographic Society
1145 17th Street, N.W. • Washington, D.C.

Additional information:

Location: Please use the M Street entrance to the National Geographic Society, which is located between 16th and 17th Streets. Once you enter the building, turn to your left to enter the dining room. There is a semi-circular driveway that can be used by taxis or by cars for dropping off passengers at the front door.

Transportation and parking: The nearest Metro stops are Farragut North on the Red Line (approximately 3 blocks walk) and Farragut West on the Orange and Blue Lines (approximately 4 blocks walk). Three parking garages are located within a block of the building: on M Street directly across from the entrance, on 17th Street, and on DeSales Street. You may not park in the Society's underground parking garage. Metered on-street parking is available but extremely limited.

Accessibility: The National Geographic Society is ADA compliant. Please note that if you plan to use the ramp to enter the building, you may access it immediately upon turning into the Society's semi-circular driveway off M Street. There is no curbside cut-through directly in front of the doors to the building. If you have any special needs in connection with this event, please email us at foundation@now.org.
